NOW TO DISPOSE OF THE ACCURSED HOOD!

A DEADLY MOMENT OF SUSPENSE AS THE SKULL STANDS POISED OVER THE HELPLESS HOOD AND...

EMPTY! BLAST IT!! I USED UP ALL MY DARTS ON THE BRUISER!

CARELESS OF YOU TO STICK YOUR FOOT IN A NOOSE, SKULL!

NOW THE ODDS ARE A LITTLE BETTER, SKULL. ONE AGAINST ONE!

YOU'LL STILL DIE!

WHOP

NOT IF YOU KEEP STICKING YOUR CHIN OUT, I WON'T!

YOUR END OF THE HUNT IS OVER SKULL!

AND MINE BEGINS!

WHAT'S HE DUCKING INTO THE MAGAZINE ROOM FOR? HE'S GOT SOMETHING UP HIS SLEEVE!

NOW LET THE HOOD COME!!

ALL RIGHT, HOOD! I VOWED VENGEANCE FOR MY FATHER!

CRASH

AND NOW I'M GOING TO HAVE IT, EVEN IF WE BOTH DIE!

BOY!...I DIVED OFF THAT BOAT NOT A SECOND TOO SOON!

BOOM

BUT I CAN'T KEEP FLOATING THIS WAY FOREVER. IF I DON'T GET PICKED UP SOON, THE SKULL MAY HAVE HIS REVENGE AFTER ALL!

A SHIP!..... THEY'LL NEVER SPOT ME UNLESS I SIGNAL THEM, BUT HOW?

WHAT'S THAT FLOATING OUT THERE? ..I'LL BE....! IT LOOKS LIKE.....

IT IS! THE SKULL'S CAPE! JUST WHAT THE DOCTOR ORDERED!

AND ON BOARD THE BOAT...

SOMETHING WAVING OUT THERE, CAPTAIN!

YES, I SEE IT TOO. I'M TRYING TO MAKE OUT WHAT IT IS. GOOD LORD! IT...IT'S

WHEW! IT'S A GREAT YARN ALL RIGHT, BUT I COULD NEVER PRINT IT IN MY PAPER. NO-BODY'D EVER BELIEVE IT!

DAYS LATER, IN BARBARA SUTTON'S APARTMENT...

AND THERE'S YOUR STORY, BAB'S... THE END OF MY THREE WORST ENEMIES

MAYBE YOU'RE RIGHT. AND THE MOST UNBELIEVABLE PART IS THAT THE SKULL HIMSELF SAVED MY LIFE INDIRECTLY, WHEN HIS CAPE FLOATED UP TO ME. FATE HAS PLAYED SOME CRAZY TRICKS, BUT THAT ONE TAKES THE CAKE!

The End

POISON FOR THE PATRIOT

A BLACK HOOD STORY

THE armed guards shivered. Their machine guns felt very cold, and the wet fog seemed to ooze down their necks. Inside the Federal Prison, the entire top floor was a blaze of light. This was unusual, but then the death chair was on that floor and tonight was the night.

Pressed against the wet stone wall, overlooking the scene, waited the muscular form of the Black Hood.

Across the street, seated in a car, Dick Graham stared with growing horror at a few words scrawled with chalk outside the prison. THE PATRIOT'S PICTURE IS IN THE MEDALLION ON A DEAD MAN. It couldn't be true!

Suddenly the lights in the prison flickered and went dim . . . again and again. Minutes later, the steel gate swung open and eight sets of stretchers were hurriedly carried into hearses. It was all over. The eight saboteurs had met justice.

And as the guards walked back into the prison, Dick Graham quickly got to work.

He searched through the bodies and grunted with triumph. He ripped a medallion from the neck of one of the saboteurs. And as he turned, he saw his passage to freedom was blocked.

"The Black Hood!" Graham snarled. He lashed out a vicious fist . . . and The Hood went down! Swiftly Graham dragged the recumbent form to his car, and churned off into the night.

"You are too clever for your own good, my friend," remarked Graham hours later as The Hood found himself securely bound to a bed. "You didn't think that the mighty Black Hood could be taken so easily, did you?" he sneered.

The Black Hood strained at his bonds. But it was no use. He answered: "No, perhaps I didn't . . . PATRIOT!"

Graham blanched. "So you know I'm the PATRIOT!" "Yes," answered the Black Hood. "The PATRIOT, the name given to you by the Nazis for helping them arrive in this country. An American citizen, secure in Florida, helping the enemy land in little rubber boats. Yes, a fine PATRIOT indeed!"

"How do you know all this?"

"When those Nazis were in prison they did a lot of talking. The only things the authorities didn't know was who you were, and where."

The PATRIOT'S face was white. "B-but the message written on the wall outside the prison!"

"It was a trap, set to catch you. Open the medallion and you'll see it's empty!" said the Black Hood.

Hurriedly Dick Graham opened the medallion he had taken from one of the dead saboteurs. True, it was empty!

"So you, Black Hood, are the only one who knows who the PATRIOT really is, eh?" said Graham in a low voice. "Well, my friend, you won't know for long. I might as well tell you I have no intention of giving up a very lucrative profession—and if other Nazi saboteurs wish to come over here, I have my price! We're twenty miles from the nearest house. I doubt if a shot or two will be heard!"

The fifth columnist pulled out an ugly-looking Mauser pistol.

Hastily the Black Hood thought of all possible avenues of escape. But there were none. For once he had bitten off more than he could chew. Then, suddenly he began to speak:

"I wouldn't shoot me if I were you. The poison will stop your heart in about three more minutes. And even if I am shot, you won't have time to go far!"

"Poison! What poison?"

"Don't you feel a strange hot and cold sensation running up and down your spine," asked the Hood. "Is your throat beginning to feel parched? That's the poison—it is already taking effect!"

Involuntarily, Graham's hand strayed to his throat. Yes, he did feel warm, and beads of perspiration stood out upon his forehead.

The Black Hood continued: "You see, my friend, I knew you'd be after that medallion, and when you grabbed it your fingers came into contact with the most deadly of all poisons: 'fereter sterben'. The victim need touch it once, and he'll die. And there is only one antidote . . . only one!"

Graham began to shiver. Yes, the poison was beginning to take effect now. The pistol in his hand shook violently. His breath came heavily; it was an effort, a great effort to keep breathing.

"The antidote . . . you say there's an antidote?"

The Black Hood yawned. "Yes, there is . . . but naturally I couldn't administer it to you, tied up like this!"

In a flash Graham was at the Hood's side, hacking at the heavy manila rope with a sharp knife. "Now . . . now, save me, save me and I'll tell all I know!"

Released from his bonds, The Black Hood stretched luxuriously, and quickly shot out with a powerful left hook. In an instant the traitor was lying on the floor.

Not long after, The Black Hood related his story for the official FBI record. "I knew someone was helping those Nazis, but I knew just as little as they did about him. For he was being paid directly by the German Government. All I knew was that he was called the PATRIOT. That's why I wrote on the prison wall, for although he couldn't be sure—his picture might have been in the medallion. So I watched the death house, knowing that this fifth columnist would try to retrieve the medallion. Then I allowed myself to be captured by him in order to learn his identity."

"But what was this poison called 'fereter sterben'? He kept begging us to find you, Hood, and get the antidote."

The Black Hood smiled. "He isn't poisoned. I just suggested it, and the coward had hysterics. You might tell him about 'fereter sterben', though. It's German—and means, Traitors always die!"

A SNOOP McGOOK STORY

IT WAS a brisk November day, and Snoop McGook trod gingerly down the street, his pulse normal and his corns aching. Eagerly he searched the street for wrong-doers. Crime, crime, where was it keeping itself? How could a sleek sleuth such as himself continue to uphold law and order, when law and order were holding up all right by themselves?

Suddenly the trim figure of a pretty girl in a red dress caught his eye. Ah me, if only Spring was in the air again. But it wasn't and his corns were killing him.

In answer to their pleadings, he turned into the nearest public building, wandered down several short halls, pushed open a swinging door, and sat himself down in a plush chair. Ahhhhh! It was a sort of amphi-theatre, at one end of which was a platform flanked by glassed-in booths. Yes, gentle reader, you've guessed it, it was a radio studio—and, as a matter of fact, Snoop had arrived just in time for: I TELL 'EM, YOU SPELL 'EM, the latest type of quiz show.

As the announcer explained to the audience what the show was all about, Snoop surreptitiously slid his shoes off. Oh, mother of mice! What a heavenly relief! His corns stopped their polo match, and settled down to a little quiet session of batting each other with mallets.

People were being chosen to come on the stage for the program and spell out the words asked by the announcer. Several seemed bashful, and hung back. Suddenly Snoop noticed that the pretty girl in the bright red dress was sitting right in front of him! Well, well, what a coincidence, he thought. She was talking to an elderly lady who'd been chosen as a contestant. "If you're too bashful to get up there, madam," said the girl, "I'll go for you!" "Oh, would you?" cried the old lady nervously. "That would be grand of you. I so hate getting up in front of people." The girl got to her feet, and out of a tiny purse took a dollar and handed it to the lady. "Just for your ticket," she said, "I get such a kick out of quiz shows!" Before the elderly lady could say anything, the girl had sidled out of the row and was scurrying down the aisle to the platform.

Something small and hard had fallen out of the girl's purse, and Snoop had seen it disappear behind the seat. He squeezed himself down, to find it, when the lights went out, and the show was on. Snoop struggled to find a match. At last he found one, struck it, burned his finger, and yelled out loud. An usher was at his side in a second, glaring down at him. "Sh-sh-sh-sh! We're on the air!" Resignedly, Snoop McGook settled back into his seat, his hands sticky with old pieces of chewing gum and empty candy wrappers.

That girl in the red dress was on the stage, and they were asking her to spell words. The clicking of a door disturbed Snoop's concentration. He looked round and saw three FBI men he knew, enter, FBI men here? But why? They asked the girl to spell the word "occasion". She said: "O—c—" and then she hesitated, smiled sweetly, and said suddenly, "Job done." And as the announcer stared, she quickly left the platform!

When the lights were on, and the program over, the audience discovered the doors had been locked. Consternation reigned, an FBI man was at each door. Why couldn't they leave?

All of a sudden from the back of the amphi-theatre came a shout!

"Miss, miss! I've got it . . . I've got it!"

Snoop McGook ran forward towards the girl in the red dress who, it seemed, was trying to lose herself in the crowd. Roughly an FBI man stopped McGook. Quickly, our hero showed him his credentials. The FBI men were all right to be sure, but he, Snoop McGook was an equally well-known clue-catcher.

"I just found this thing, and I . . ."

The FBI men took a quick look at the item and gasped.

"Who does it belong to, McGook?"

"That girl in the red dress over there!"

"Humm. Can you remember enough of what she said when she was on the air to tell us?"

"Why, sure . . . but . . . I . . . er . . ."

"Come along McGook, you're a valuable man. And Mike, grab that girl and take her down for questioning!"

Later at headquarters, Snoop McGook puffed luxuriously at the expensive cigar that had been proffered him. For the nineteenth time he was telling his story: a new batch of detectives had just come off duty.

"You see boys, for some time we've been on the trail of enemy agents who have been informing their governments by appearing on radio quiz programs. I had traced this girl in the red dress to today's show, and when I heard her say, 'Job done,' I knew we had the girl we were looking for."

"But how did you get the evidence of the sabotage?" asked a rookie cop. "How did you find that valve which she stole from the bomber conveyor belt? Why, that would have held up our production for six months!"

Snoop McGook remembered slipping on his shoe when the show was over and feeling the hard object in the toe . . . and said: "Ahhh, my boy, a good detective never tells all he knows!"

And as the heroic McGook left headquarters with the eyes of the force upon him, a strange new sensation of peace possessed him. His corns had given up hurting him. In disgust, no doubt,

MEET THE EDITOR

by SCOTT FELDMAN

HARRY SHORTEN

ONE bright April morning about a million years ago—or anyway, it feels like a million years ago—I meandered over to 60 Hudson Street, to begin work as assistant editorial director for the M.L.J. comic magazines.

I took the elevator up to the third floor, and started to enter the M.L.J. offices at Suite 315. At this point, a man came rolling out and almost knocked me over.

The man was clutching a manuscript in his hand, and he looked as though he had just fallen off a roller-coaster and landed on his head.

Halfway into the long hall which precedes the outer office, I tangled with another man. This fellow had an artist's portfolio under his arm, and he looked like he'd fallen off the same roller-coaster.

I later learned that both these men had just emerged from a story conference with Harry Shorten, my new boss . . . and that they'd had their bad ideas tossed out so quickly and new ideas added so quickly that it sent them away pretty much dazed.

Well, maybe I'm exaggerating a bit. Maybe a story conference with Harry Shorten doesn't produce such mind-whirling effects. But I do know that H.S. has the peculiar knack of considering a story and getting right to the basic wrongs, if any. You can call him a hard editorial master, and you can call him a slave driver, but his habit of working with artists and writers through every stage produces the best comic stories published. You know what I mean if you read his magazines.

Here are some personal details:

Harry Shorten's a young fellow, twenty-seven or twenty-eight. Height, 5-11; weight about 190; all muscle. I remember my first impression when meeting him. "Here," I said to myself, "is a guy I'll never attempt to poke in the snoot." I wasn't surprised when I learned later that Short had starred on the New York University football team (been All-Eastern, in fact) and had later played pro football in the American League.

Unlike many people in the writing business, who pounded typewriters while biting their teething rings, Harry Shorten, up till the time he entered college, had no idea that he was headed for a literary career. But he was on the football team at NYU, and this gave him an idea for a book called, "How to Watch a Football Game." He wrote the book, and the book was published. It had a spectacular sale . . . and this made him think more seriously about writing. He began to write sports stories for the pulp magazines in his spare time.

All this while, he was continuing his college work as a Geology major, and by the time he had graduated with honors, he'd sold so many sports stories that he'd lost count.

Well, he was out of college now, and while he was waiting for something good to develop in the geology field, he continued to write more sports stories. Then someone asked him to write some stories for the comic magazines. He started on these, and was so successful, that before he knew it he'd been made editorial director up here at M.L.J. Shortly afterwards he was offered an excellent position in Washington as a geologist, and he refused it. . . .

At present, he manages PEP COMICS, ZIP COMICS, TOP-NOTCH LAUGH COMICS, HANGMAN COMICS, JACK-POT COMICS, and SHIELD-WIZARD COMICS. Editing two magazines is a man-sized job; Short edits six, and handles his work capably. He accounts for his ability to get all his work done on deadline to Irving Novick, Bob Montana, Paul Reinman, Carl Hubbell, "Red" Holmdale and all the other crack artists who work for him.

Short's a settled married man now, with a beautiful wife named Rose, and a fifteen-month-old daughter named Melinda who is the sweetest, swellest, cutest, loveliest, most wonderful and amazing baby girl on earth. (Honest, this description is strictly my own opinion. The fact that Short is holding a baseball bat near my head as I write has nothing to do with it.)

To sum up, it's a pleasure to work for the guy. Yessir, I—wait a minute!

SCOTT FELDMAN—
COME HERE!!!!

Ulp! I guess he's found out about that spelling error I missed when I proofread that Shield story. All right, I'm coming. I'm coming. Keep your shirt on.

TOPNOTCH'S HALL OF FAME DEDICATES THIS SAGA OF COURAGE UNDER FIRE TO THE FIRST HEROINES OF THIS WAR...

THE NURSES OF BATAAN!

YES, THEY WERE GIRLS, LIKE YOUR SISTER OR YOUR SWEETHEART... AND GAVE UP EVERYTHING THAT SPELLED COMFORT AND HOME! EXCHANGED GLADLY THE SECURITY OF THE FRONT PORCH AND THREE SQUARE MEALS A DAY FOR BOMBS, SHELL-FIRE, DISEASE AND HALF-RATIONS!

THEIRS WAS NOT THE STARCHED WHITE OF NURSES AND CLEAN CITY HOSPITAL... THEIRS WAS THE GREASED KHAKI UNIFORM, THE SMILE ENCOURAGING THE WOUNDED TO BEAR PAIN... THEIRS WAS THE SUPREME KNOWLEDGE THEY WERE SERVING THE GREATEST OF ALL CAUSES... FREEDOM!

NURSES OF BATAAN
WE SALUTE YOU!

HERE IS THE EPIC OF BATAAN AS TOLD TO TOP NOTCH'S HALL OF FAME BY ONE OF THE NURSES OF BATAAN!

WE'RE BEING BOMBED!!

HELP US! NURSE!

KEEP THEM NURSE!

"WITHIN TWO WEEKS AFTER THE SIEGE OF BATAAN BEGAN, PATIENTS FLOODED OUR SMALL HOSPITAL. FROM 400 WOUNDED WEEKLY TO 1500. THEN, ON THE FOURTH OF APRIL-----"

"QUICKLY THE NURSES SPED TO THE PATIENTS SIDES, THE DISEASED, THE WOUNDED... AND THE SHOCKED."

"WE DID WHAT WE COULD FOR THE SUFFERING SOLDIERS, BUT EVEN THAT COULDN'T KEEP AWAY THE STARK REALITY THAT BOMBS WERE STRIKING CLOSE!"

"HOURS PASSED, AND FINALLY DARKNESS CLOSED ABOUT US. WE WERE AFRAID TO LIGHT LANTERNS LEST WE GUIDE THE JAP BOMBERS TO FRESH ATROCITIES!"

SILENTLY, BY THE LIGHT OF THE MOON WE BATHED WOUNDS AND COMFORTED THE CRIPPLED

"DURING THE NEXT THREE DAYS, MOST OF THE HOSPITAL WAS RE-BUILT... AND ON THE 7TH OF APRIL..."

HOSPITAL DOWN BELOW! AIM FOR RED CROSS! YOU CANNOT MISS!

"AT THAT MOMENT AN AMMUNITION TRUCK WAS PASSING THE HOSPITAL ENTRANCE."

LOOKOUT! BOMBERS AHEAD!

"...IT GOT A DIRECT HIT! THE BOYS ON GUARD AT THE GATE WERE SMOTHERED IN THE DIRT THROWN UP BY THE EXPLOSION, AND SHELL-SHOCKED!"

"EVERYTHING WAS TERROR AND CONFUSION: BUT STILL THE DOCTORS AND NURSES WORKED ON..... AMPUTATING, OPERATING....."

"SUDDENLY OUT OF THE CHAOS SOUNDED THE QUIET CALM OF NURSE FARNSWORTH....."

EVERYTHING'S ALL RIGHT NOW! STAY QUIETLY IN YOUR BEDS AND WE'LL PRAY!!

OUR HEAVENLY FATHER--- GRANT THAT OUR SUFFERING BE RELIEVED AND THAT OUR BRAVE FIGHTING BOYS WILL MAKE THIS WORLD THE KIND OF PLACE WORTH LIVING IN!

"AGAIN AND AGAIN THE BOMBS STRUCK, AND AS WE NURSES CLEARED THE DERBIS, NURSE FARNSWORTH PRAYED AND KEPT THE WOUNDED MIRACULOUSLY QUIET!"

"HELPLESS AS WE WERE TO STRIKE BACK AT THE INSANE MONSTERS WHO KEPT UP A BARRAGE OF FIRE--- WE STRUGGLED ON, SAVING THOSE WE COULD...."

I'LL GET THEM!

THERE THEY ARE! POOR THINGS THEY'RE IMPRISONED!

WHAT IS IT, NURSE NESBITT?

THE TRACTION PATIENTS MUST BE SAVED!

* TRACTION PATIENTS...HAVE THEIR LEGS UP ON PULLEYS TO STRAIGHTEN FRACTURES

"IT WOULD BE HARD TO BELIEVE OF SUCH BRAVERY... IF YOU HADN'T SEEN IT!"

THIS WILL HURT A LITTLE BIT, BUT IF I CUT YOU FREE YOU'LL BE OUT OF RANGE OF THAT FALLING SHRAPNEL!

"UNAIDED, THE NURSE PULLED AND PUSHED EIGHTY-TWO TRACTION PATIENTS UNDER THEIR BEDS..."

YOU'LL BE SAFER UNDER THERE!

LOOK OUT!

THANK YOU NURSE... BUT HOW ABOUT YOU?

I'VE STILL PLENTY OF WORK TO DO!

"BUT AS NURSE NESBITT WALKED AWAY..."

WHAT'S OUR NEXT MOVE, LIEUTENANT HENNESSY?

WE'RE GOING TO EVACUATE THE PATIENTS TO CORREGIDOR TOMORROW! IT'LL BE PRETTY TOUGH... BUT I THINK WE'LL MAKE IT!

SHE DIED... DIED BRAVELY... FALLEN IN THE COURSE OF DUTY.

AND SHE WAS ONLY ONE OF THE TWENTY-NINE NURSES WHO GAVE THEIR LIVES FOR OUR SOLDIERS

"FINALLY WHEN THE BOMBING BECAME SO INTENSE THAT IT WAS SHEER SUICIDE TO REMAIN ANY LONGER ON BATAAN..."

"WE LEFT THE HOSPITAL AT 9 THAT NIGHT..."

"HEADED FOR THE QUAYSIDE..."

"EASY NOW, EASY! WE'LL MAKE IT!"

"WITH BOMBS BURSTING AROUND US, WE LOADED THE PATIENTS INTO WAITING LAUNCHES

"AND WE DID MAKE IT. WE ARRIVED AT CORREGIDOR AT 3 THE NEXT MORNING..."

"AND WHEN OUR PATIENTS WERE SAFELY IN THE CORREGIDOR HOSPITAL..."

"WE RELAXED FOR THE FIRST TIME... IN A SWIM..."

AND SO TO THE NURSES OF BATAAN FOR THEIR BRAVERY IN THE FACE OF ALMOST CERTAIN DEATH, AND FOR THEIR STRICT OBEDIENCE TO THEIR MEDICAL OATH OF HIPPOCRATES SERVING THEIR PATIENTS UNDER ALL CONDITIONS; SACRIFICING THEMSELVES TO SAVE THE LIVES OF THOSE THEY TENDED... TOP-NOTCH LAUGH COMICS IS PROUD TO AWARD ITS PALM OF THE MONTH!
